One leg of each participant was tied with their consecutive partner, the pair of students had to run around the sheets until the music stops which eliminated one team at a time. After every round of musical chair, a continuous round of quiz was played by each team as they stood on their sheet of paper. For every answer the team got right in the quiz, they folded their paper in half. For the last two teams, a relay was organised where the teams had to find a hidden clue and guess the answer.
